

Postal Rate Hike Seems Doomed

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's proposal to raise the price of mailing a letter to a dime to help pay for the wage boost of mailmen and other government workers is doomed, according to Senate Dept.

That area is first class mail, which is paying its own way under the current six-cent rate structure.

Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., chairman of the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee, already had rejected the Nixon proposal.

He said a check with members of his panel, showed the 10-cent stamp doesn't stand a chance. McGee said the postal strike proved a two-step, 14 per cent boost that breakdown this way:

— A 6 per cent boost for nearly all federal workers, including postal employees and military personnel, retroactive to Dec. 27.

— Another 8 per cent jump for mail workers if and when a Post Office reorganization bill becomes law.

The cost of the package is estimated at $3 billion and Nixon's 10-cent stamp proposal is designed to bring in $2.3 billion.

McGee said Congress will work within the terms set by the negotiated agreement, and promised to act quickly.

Mansfield said he will schedule floor action on the measure as soon as it is ready, possibly by mid-week.

Mansfield said the over-all pay package may have an inflationary effect. But he said it represents an overdue federal commitment to government workers.

To offset it, he said, the budget will have to be cut elsewhere.

"I think the administration will have to cut expenditures more and we'll have to reduce appropriations more," Mansfield said. "I think we ought to look again at the defense budget and our commitments overseas."

There were further indications over the weekend that not all the postal workers were satisfied with the agreement. Letter carriers in Pittsburgh voted 315-289 Saturday to reject the agreement.

Earlier, local union officials in New York had criticized the proposed contract and John O'Shea, president of the Pittsburgh letter carriers local, said "If New York City strikes, Pittsburgh follows."

Meyer's Bakery executives Fred Francher, president, and Henry Rath, secretary-treasurer, were special guests of Jerry Winer, plant manager of the local Meyer's Brown 'n' Serve Bakery at the Hope Rotary Club luncheon meeting last Friday in the Town and Country.

Mr. Francher made a projection that Meyer's in Hope would do a 1½ million dollar business this year. He also said that the public could look forward to a new product, English muffins, from this bakery in the near future.

Rotarian Jerry Winer showed an unusual film made while fishing Venezuela on a recent business-holiday in that country. He also distributed samples of bacon-flavored bread made locally.

Before the program, President Benny Coleman, welcomed Jim Cole back into the club.

Shepard spent nearly 10 years in the Ohio Penitentiary while fighting his conviction. A U.S. District Court ordered his release on July 16, 1964. The U.S. Supreme Court ordered him freed on June 6, 1966 and ruled the state could try him again within a reasonable time.

At his second trial in Cleveland, defended by attorney F. Lee Bailey, Shepard was acquitted on Nov. 16, 1966.

Shepard married his second wife, Ariane Tebbenjohanns, an attractive blonde German divorcee, in Chicago on July 18, 1964. He had corresponded with her while in prison and first met her during a parole hearing here in 1963. She sued him for divorce

Brandt said his government had made known that it was willing to pay the $700,000, "but unfortunately this was to no avail."

A special representative sent by Brandt's government to Guatemala said a break in relations between the two countries had not been "discarded."

The Guatemalan government had previously released FAR men in exchange for its own kidnapped foreign minister and an abducted American diplomat, but it said it could not meet the kidnappers' demand this time because the prisoners sought were already sentenced by the courts or scheduled for court action. It said to release them would violate the constitution.

Instead, government imposed a 30-day state of siege giving security forces extraordinary powers.

The body of the frail, 63-year-old ambassador was found about 12 miles from Guatemala City, near an adobe house where he was believed to have been held. He wore a blue suit, white shirt, black shoes, and had a watch on his left wrist and a ring on his finger. He was holding a blood-covered pair of eyeglasses, and the left side of his head was bathed in blood.

Nixon Looks Down the Senate Gunbarrel But It's Happened Before

By BARRY SCHWEID

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — As President Nixon looks down the Senate gunbarrel today over nomination of G. Harrold Carswell to the Supreme Court, at least one thing is clear: It's happened before.

From the early days of the republic, when George Washington saw John Rutledge, a nominee for chief justice, defeated because he spoke out against a treaty with England, presidents and congresses have been locked in an endless duel.

Sometimes the stakes were control of the court itself, as when Franklin D. Roosevelt, exasperated over persistent invalidations of New Deal measures and encouraged by a smashing re-election in 1936, tried and failed the following year to pack the court by expanding its membership.

Sometimes the fights were motivated by pique and mean politics. In 1844 and 1845, Senate Whigs spited John Tyler, who had become a Democrat, by blocking four of his five nominees, although at least three of the men—John C. Spencer, Edward King and Reuben H. Walworth—generally were recognized as eminently qualified.

In all, 24 of the 132 men nominated to the court before Carswell failed to win approval by the Senate. Two of them, Roger B. Taney of Maryland and Stanley Matthews of Ohio, made it on a second try.

Rutledge was the first man rejected, in 1795. The last was Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. of South Carolina, defeated 55 to 45 last Nov. 21 for the same seat Carswell seeks.

One of the rejected 24 men lost out simply because he had written a routine letter of introduction.

Caleb Cushing's misfortune in 1874 was that he had written the letter for a young Texan in 1861 to Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy.

Cushing, a former attorney general and a judge on the Massachusetts Supreme Court, was branded as proslavery by Radical Republicans and President Grant withdrew his nomination for chief justice.

Six times Congress changed the size of the court, at least twice in an effort to stymie the president.

The first was in 1801 when Federalists reduced the original six to five to block Thomas Jefferson from naming a successor to the aged and ailing William Cushing of Massachusetts. Congress repealed the change in 1802.

The second time, in 1866, led by Sen. Lyman Trumbull of Illinois, Congress cut the court from its alltime high of 10 to 8 to prevent the embattled Andrew Johnson from naming justices inclined to strike down the Reconstruction acts.

A loser in the quick shuffle was Henry Stanbery, an evidently qualified man who was Johnson's attorney general and was to be his lawyer in impeachment proceedings in 1868. Since his seat was gone his nomination died.

The court's size moved up to nine in 1869, after Johnson left the White House. And so it has remained, though FDR's plan in 1937 could have ballooned the court to 15 members. Roosevelt's idea was to add one justice for each of the six sitting justices past 70 years of age who would not retire.

Last week, in a letter to Sen. William B. Saxbe, R-Ohio, Nixon said the question in the Carswell fight was "whether I, as President of the United States, shall be accorded the same right of choice in naming Supreme Court justices which has been freely accorded to my predecessors of both parties."

History does not bear Nixon out. Presidents were not freely accorded this prerogative and 20 of the 81 nominees from 1789 to 1894 were rejected.

After 1894, only eight nominations to the court faced serious opposition: those of Louis D. Brandeis of Massachusetts—1916, Harland F. Stone of New York—1925, Charles Evans Hughes of New York—1930, John J. Parker of North Carolina—1930, Hugo L. Black of Alabama—1937, Abe Fortas of Tennessee—1968, Haynsworth and Carswell.

Parker and Haynsworth were defeated. Lyndon B. Johnson's nomination of Fortas for chief justice was withdrawn. Johnson also withdrew the nomination of Homer Thornberry of Texas in 1968. Thornberry was to succeed Fortas as associate justice with Fortas moving up to chief.

Brandeis, Stone, Hughes and Black made it, all by substantial margins. All became major figures on the court. Brandeis and Black turned out to be about as liberal as their enemies feared. Stone and Hughes, who were castigated by progressives and by liberal Democrats as friends of big business, also ended up on the liberal side most of the time.

With the failure of the Carswell nomination, Nixon would become the seventh president to have at least two nominations fail.

Tyler tops the list with 4, Millard Fillmore and Grant lost 3 times, and Washington, Grover Cleveland and Lyndon Johnson, twice each.

Nixon's troubles are slight compared to Tyler, who was turned down on four cabinet nominations and on two ministers, as well as four times on the court.

And if Nixon feels he is a victim of political partisanship, Cleveland would be good company. Two of his nominees, William Hornblower of New Jersey and Wheeler H. Peckham of New York, were rejected largely because of the opposition of one powerful senator, Daniel Hill of New York.

It would seem—so desperate have fights for confirmation been—that everyone nominated would leap at the chance to serve. Not so.

Six men, including President John Quincy Adams, declined though nominated. The last man to snub the court was Roscoe Conkling in 1882.

Conkling had been offered the chief justiceship by Grant and refused.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT! This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us! it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper. SHE BITES HAND THAT FEEDS HER

Dear Helen: Whoever said your best friend is your worst enemy really had something. This couple is supposed to be bosom buddies with us. I've lent the girl clothes and have fed them many times.

Though she looks better in my dresses than I do, she did not seem the type to play around. Yet yesterday I was looking in my husband's wallet for a credit card and came across her picture—in my bikini! It was signed, "Yours, Bunny."

My husband says she gave it to him as a joke, because it was "his" swim suit—the "yours" meant the bikini, not the girl. Today I got the picture out of the wastebasket where he'd thrown it after our little spat; crossed out the "yours" and replaced it with "mine. . . Neil."

Is this sufficient?—SUSPICIOUS NELL

Dear Nell: It's sufficient to win back a bikini and lose a friend. But is shows deficient faith in your husband, your friends, and yourself.—H.

Dear Helen: Many years ago my parents divorced, my mother remarried and my father went to live with his mother, where he was remained.

Now that I'm married and have children, Dad comes over to visit at least five days a week. The children love this because he spoils them solid. They don't do their work, they talk back, they take his word over mine. Trouble is he never has to pay the consequences, clean up the messes, etc.

I don't get my husband's support because we're considering divorce. Should I just throw all the men out and start over?—TROUBLED

Dear Troubled: I don't guarantee the results, but why not give an outside job a try? When your Dad has full responsibility for the children he may shape them up—or else he'll ship out. When your husband sees you as an interesting individual not just a household fixture, he may think better of his marriage.

At any rate, you'll feel less hopeless about the situation because you've taken a step to change it. Good luck.—H.

Dear Helen: I have a son, 19, who enlisted in the navy to avoid getting drafted. But there's one problem: We don't want him to go in the service. We'd rather he got a job instead, and he'd like that better, too.

He quit school in the 10th grade and has worked on and off, but hasn't found anything to satisfy him. Now that he's older, he can probably do better.

Is there any way he can get his name off those navy papers he signed?—S.D.

Dear S.D.: No way. But your son can get a high school diploma if he signs up for courses offered by the navy. And that might mean $50,000 added to his life income. Not a bad exchange for a few years of "free" world travel, yes?—H.

Dear Helen: Could you provide a good short toast for a going-away dinner?—ABOUT TO BE ASKED

Dear ATBA: How about "may whatever befalls you fail to tell you."—H.

Television and Nifty Knits Go Casual Radio

By JERRY BUCK

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — There is a minority of women in this country who would like to slap a sticker onto every television set saying: "This commercial unfair to women."

The ladies of the women's liberation movement are incensed about commercials that extol the virtues of housewifery or cast them as sex symbols.

Donna Keck, writing in "Women, a Journal of Liberation," says, "The dual image of women is projected by television ads. The 'housewife-drudge' is urged to buy detergent, floor wax, furniture polish, food products and other items to make household tasks easier.

The 'sexmate' on the other hand needs feminine deodorant soap and spray, hair coloring, cosmetics, padded bras and girdles."

Miss Keck's conclusion is that the whole thing is designed to keep women in an inferior position—and to entice them into buying more products.

Some of the commercials are glaringly inept. Even a male is aware that women don't stand around admiring a whiter wash and that there is more to finding happiness than using the mouthwash for lovers.

Incidentally, many commercials have become quite hip, setting standards for the movies and the rest of television. But the detergent commercials still plod along as they did 20 years ago.

One commercial these women say is antifeminine is that for Silva Thin cigarettes. The guy is always grabbing his cigarette package away from an admiring girl and shoving her into a cable car or a taxi. Once he dumped her out in the middle of nowhere.

Admittedly one advertising representative: "I think that would upset me if I were a lady. It's not at all chivalrous."

Lately, however, the guy has shown a little manners. When I first saw the new commercial for Tab without cyclamates I thought it was a great take-off on the "Guys and Dolls" type Broadway review.

But one feminist demanded, "What do they mean, 'Tab is good enough for guys now?'"

Another commercial that gets their "dander" up is Virginia Slims. They ask, "Is this what we've come a long way for? To have our own cigarette?"

Besides the commercials, Miss Keck complains about the image of woman that is perpetuated in the entertainment programs. She is a housewife. She is beautiful. She is not very smart; or she is clever and manipulates her husband. In the meantime, the feminists also are very mad.

DEAR PAULETTE—Nice to hear from you. Here are two suggestions: First of all, you can simply sew buttons on the front of your sweater or garment closing, then hide a series of large snap fasteners behind.

But if you insist on having genuine buttons that do their job, whether or not the pattern calls for buttonholes, just try this:

accommodate the button. On the following row, cast on the same number of stitches over the cast-off stitches.

Vertical buttonholes are made by dividing the work at the point where the buttons will be inserted. Work the number of rows needed to give proper height on the first set of stitches. Next, work the same number of rows on the second set of stitches. Then knit across both sets of stitches as you were doing before dividing the work.

Buttonholes on knitted garments should be treated as you do those on fabric. It is essential to overwork each one for added strength.

Sound Screen

Enfold yourself in a sound screen. Pick a free-standing screen in bright red; hang little colored boxes on it to hold record-cleaning materials, batteries, new needles and so on; and put up some shelves to support the heavier equipment. A handsome low table and stools out in front can synchronize gamesmanship with listening.

The name "thespians" for actors is derived from Thespis, a Greek poet of the 500s B.C., who is believed to have founded the first Greek theater.

Golf Team Wins, Track Boys Third

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer
Last Friday the Hope track team traveled to Arkadelphia with a small crew of five members, due to Key Club convention, sickness and other engagements.

That team of five won third place overall though with some fine running and throwing by Artis Martin, Lee Davis, Gary Wheelington, Ray Wheelington, and Lynn Norton.

The Junior High took second place. David Johnson and Thomas Aleny won their heats of the 100 yard dash while the 440 relay team took a first place.

Buddy Ingram won the pole vault while Mike Waters placed second in the 880 run with a 2:18.0 timing.

Saturday the HHS golfers won another match when they walloped Crossett, 16½ to 1½. This brings their record to 3 and 1.

They also set a school record for total strokes, recording 315 to 366 for Crossett.

Jimmy Pruden took medalist honors with a 75, next was Ralph Rounton with a 76, Jack Turner had a 79, and Jerry Pruden 85.

The next match is scheduled for Tuesday, at 2 p.m., here against Magnolia.

Soviet Union Captures 32 Medals

ROVANIEMI, Finland (AP) — With 16 out of 23 events completed in the sixth World University Winter Games, the Soviet Union has taken 32 of the 47 medals.

With eight titles at stake here and in Helsinki, the Russians won all Sunday except the one in the women's figure skating, which went to Hungary's Zsuzsa Almasy.

Russians completely dominated the speed skating, winning all four events in addition to Saturday's three. The only non-Russian to win a speed skating event was West Germany's Olympic champion and former world record holder Erhard Keller, who triumphed at the 500 meters.

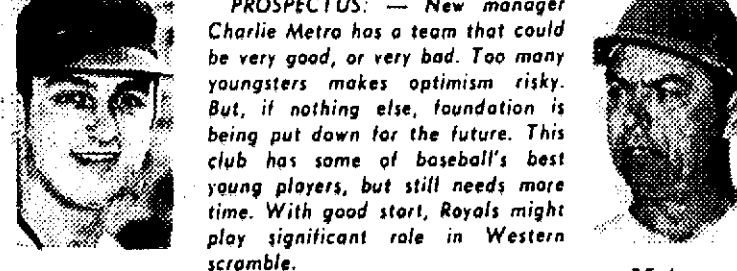

Erik Poulsen of Olympic Valley, Calif., is leading the men's giant slalom after the first run with the second to come Tuesday. Saturday, Rosie Fortuna of Warren, Vt., won the women's special slalom for the first and only U.S. gold medal so far.

The United States got its second silver medal Sunday night, when Jennie Naish placed second in the women's figure skating. Thus, girls have provided for all the three U.S. medals, since the first silver came through Ann Black of Seattle in the special slalom.

FORM CHARTS

By MARTY RALBOVSKY, NEA Sports Writer

Kansas City, AL West

Bunker Metro

PITCHING — Wally Bunker (12-11, 3.23 ERA) is best of staff. Had trouble getting runs last year. Behind him are Dick Drago (11-13) and Bill Butler (9-10). Roger Nelson (7-13, 3.31) showed flashes of brilliance last year, also flashes of mediocrity. Jim Rooker will help, too. He was 4-16, but lost eight by one run. Bullpen has Moe Drabowski (11-9, 2.94 ERA) and Steve Jones (2-3). Relief help needed. Rating—C

CATCHING — Buck Martinez, the incumbent, and Ellie Rodriguez will settle No. 1 spot in spring training. Rookies Dennis Poepeke and Fran Healy will also get looks. Rating—C

INFIELD — Mike Fiore hit 12 HRs and batted .274 to win first base job last year. Second could go to Jerry Adair (.250) or rookie Luis Alcaraz, who hit .301 at Omaha last season. Jack Hernandez has good glove at short, but weak bat (.222). Third wide open. Poepeke will get a shot, also Paul Schall, who still hasn't returned to preopening form of a few years back. Rating—C

OUTFIELD — Strong part of club. Lou Pinella, AL's Rookie of the Year, is back in left. He hit .282, clubbed 11 HRs. Center will go to Amos Otis, a .327 hitter at Tidewater in the Mets' chain last year. Right is tussle between Pat Kelly (.268, 8 HRs, 40 stolen bases) and Ed Kirkpatrick (.257 with 14 HRs). One may wind up at third. Rating—B

TOP ROOKIES — Alcaraz and Otis given best chances, not only of sticking, but starting. Bob Johnson, up from Memphis in the Mets' system, may help in bullpen. And Poepeke will stay somewhere.

Prediction: 3rd in AL West

Bulls Out, Lakers, Knicks Still Kicking

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Chicago Bulls reached the end of the line, the Los Angeles Lakers received a stay of execution and either the New York Knicks or Baltimore Bullets are about to walk the last mile.

That's how the National Basketball Association playoffs shaped up after Sunday's action in which the Atlanta Hawks wiped out Chicago 113-107, Los Angeles drubbed the Phoenix Suns 138-121 and Baltimore outshot New York 96-87.

The Hawks eliminated Chicago four games to one and gained a spot in the Western Division finals. In the other Western semifinal, the Suns lead Los Angeles 3-2 with game six Tuesday night in Phoenix. The Suns won Saturday night 112-102.

The Knicks and Bullets, tied at 3-3, will settle their Eastern semi tonight in New York, with the winner opposing the Milwaukee Bucks, 4-1 winners over Philadelphia.

A 12-point flurry by Walt Hazzard in the third period sparked Atlanta to an 85-73 spread over Chicago and the Hawks held off a late rally. The Bulls pulled to within 109-107 with 1:16 left but two free throws by Lou Hudson and one each by Jim Davis and Walt Bellamy sewed it up.

Joe Caldwell topped the winners with 24 points and Hazzard and Hudson each scored 23. Clem Haskins led Chicago with 24.

Jerry West and Wilt Chamberlain kept Los Angeles alive against Phoenix. Each had 36 points and West fed off for 18 assists while big Wilt grabbed 14 rebounds.

Mel Counts, the Lakers' other 7-footer, chipped in with 18 points and 16 rebounds while Connie Hawkins and Gail Goodrich paced the Suns with 28 and 23 points, respectively.

The Baltimore Bullets weren't a one-man team Sunday. Two-man was more like it. Gus Johnson and Earl Monroe scored 28 of the Bulls' 30 points in the third period and 40 of 55 in the second half as they sent the series back to New York for a seventh game.

Johnson finished with 31 points and Monroe 29. Walt Frazier was high for the Knicks with 18 while Willie Reed was held to 10 points and 16 rebounds after getting 36 of each in game five.

Denver and Dallas Are Moving Up

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Denver and Dallas are up and Los Angeles down after the latest battles in the American Basketball Association's War of the West.

Spencer Haywood, scoring 39 points and grabbing 28 rebounds, led the Denver Rockets from behind to a 112-98 victory over the Kentucky Colonels Sunday. The win gave Denver a 3½-game lead in the Western Division and reduced its title-clinching magic number to two.

Dallas took sole possession of second place and dropped Los Angeles into the division cellar by shading the Stars 131-127 behind Glen Combs' 33 points and 31 by John Beasley.

The Chaparrals are one half game ahead of Washington. The Stars, 6½ games off the pace, trail New Orleans by percentage points in their battle for the fourth and last berth in the division playoffs.

In other games, the New York Nets toppled Indiana's Eastern Division champs 104-99 and Miami downed Carolina 111-103.

Richardson Stars in Hog Scrimmage

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Sophomore tailback John Richardson rushed for 168 yards and four touchdowns to highlight an Arkansas Razorback football scrimmage here Saturday.

Richardson, who led the freshman team in rushing last fall, scored his touchdowns on short runs. He had the only touchdown to come against the first team defense.

Russell Garber, a junior fullback, had 104 yards on 16 carries and a 15-yard touchdown run.

Redshirt sophomore Steve Jones also had a 15-yard scoring run.

Coach Frank Broyles said, "All in all it was a pretty good scrimmage. It is the first day we have shown any enthusiasm."

Dodgers, Yanks Keep on Winning

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Los Angeles Dodgers and New York Yankees, second division finishers in last year's pennant races, will go into the 1970 baseball season as front-runners — on the Citrus-Cactus circuit.

The Dodgers capitalized on nine walks and four California errors Sunday to whip the Angels 10-4 for 17-8 finish—best among National League clubs—in exhibition play.

American League laurels went to the Yankees, who bombed Houston 10-1 in their final tuneup for an 18-9 record—best for the club in 15 years.

Billy Grabarkewitz delivered three runs with a pair of doubles as the Dodgers beat the Angels for the third day in succession and Pete Ward, acquired by the Yankees from the Chicago White Sox in a winter trade, socked Houston with a single, double and triple, good for three RBIs.

The Chicago Cubs, meanwhile, completed a sweep of their three-game series with the White Sox and wound up 19-10 for the spring by shelling Joe Horlen on the way to a 10-8 victory. Horlen was tagged for 15 hits and all 10 Cub runs in the five innings he pitched.

Ninth inning doubles by Ron Swoboda and Duffy Dyer around a throwing error by Minnesota shortstop Leo Cárdenas gave the New York Mets two unearned runs and a 4-1 verdict over the Twins, who finished at the bottom of the exhibition standings at 7-20.

Philadelphia edged Baltimore 2-1 on Ron Stone's run-scoring single in the 13th inning. Reggie Smith hit a two-run homer in the fifth inning and Carl Yastrzemski followed with another blast, carrying Boston past Pittsburgh 5-3.

Detroit erupted for seven runs in the seventh, Gates Brown keying the rally with a two-run single, and trimmed Cincinnati 11-6. Willie McCovey drilled a homer, triple and single as San Francisco clubbed Atlanta 8-2.

Tony Horton lashed four hits and Cleveland smacked Milwaukee 11-4 behind a seven-run sixth inning explosion. Oakland topped San Diego 6-2 with the help of five errors by the Padres—three of them in the A's three-run sixth. Frank Howard homered for Washington as the Senators played Montreal to a 3-3 10-inning standoff.

Porker Golf Team Wins Tournament

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP) — The University of Arkansas beat eight teams in the second annual Missouri Southern Invitational golf meet here Saturday with a four-man team score of 317.

Wisconsin State University was second at 322, followed by Drury 325, Southwest Missouri 328, Cameron, Okla., 329, Missouri Southern 338, William Jewell 339, Pittsburg State 347, and Central Missouri 356.

Dog Racing Dates Again Refused

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Racing Commission has once again denied racing dates for Southland Racing Park in West Memphis.

The commission adopted a resolution Saturday against setting the dates pending the outcome of an investigation into the ownership of the dog track.

The resolution said it would "not be in the public interest to sanction racing at Southland... while there is a question in the minds of representatives of the citizens of Arkansas about the character, reputation and integrity of the ownership" of the dog track.

The commission and a state legislative committee held a hearing late last month into Southland's activities "to determine if there is involvement of these (Southland) owners with the Mafia and organized gambling syndicates."

Commission Chairman Guy Newcomb said that if the investigation shows that Southland is not above reproach, the commission should revoke Southland's franchise.

In other business, the commission told Jockey Vernon Saylor that if he passed a polygraph test he would be reinstated.

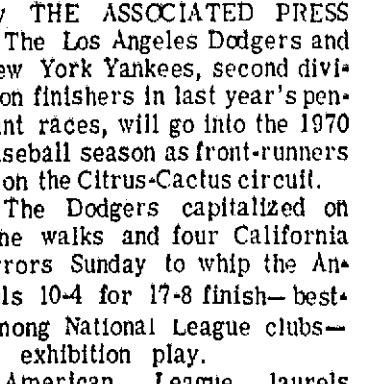

Saylor was suspended last week for allegedly possessing a "shocking device" while riding in a race at Oaklawn Park.

Saylor said he had no knowledge of the device.

The commission also granted racing dates for Oaklawn Park for the 1971 racing season.

Next year the track will be open from February 5 to April 3.

2 Arkansans Near Top in Greensboro

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer
GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Look out Masters, the little man is ready. "It's a nice thing, winning the week before the Masters," Gary Player said Sunday after charging out of a closely bunched pack with a final round 65 and taking the title in the Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament.

"I feel I have it going well. I'm thrilled to get this form, to win so soon after coming over to this country. I've only been over four weeks. It's a nice surprise. I usually don't play quite this well this early."

"Those first two rounds I played, 70 and 63, I can't remember ever playing two consecutive rounds that well. I can't remember ever hitting so many irons right at the flag, anything from a two to a six I was right on it."

Player, who won the Masters in 1961, left for Augusta, Ga., only a couple of hours after holing out. He said he would play a practice round Monday in preparation for the Masters, which opens Thursday.

Player, who has only been in this country for five weeks on his current tour, finished with a 271, 13 under par on the rolling Sedgefield County Club Course.

He held a two-stroke advantage over Miller Barber, who closed with a 68 and took second at 273. He was followed by R. H. Sikes, 69 for 274, Steve Spray 67 for 275 with Arnold Palmer, Lee Trevino and Tommy Aaron tied at 276.

Trevino, the season's leading money winner, closed with a 68, Aaron had a 71 and Palmer, who led the first two days of the rain-delayed tournament, also had a 71.

The little South African, the subject of some threats because of his nation's apartheid policies, was guarded by a sprinkling of plainclothes policemen at the huge gallery that followed him and his playing partners, Palmer and Aaron.

Player called it the biggest gallery he has ever seen.

The $36,000 first place check was his biggest payday ever and boosted his earnings to more than $43,000 in only four starts.

The visitors won the nightcap 4-0.

Hog Baseball Team Splits Twin Bill

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks split a baseball double-header with Kearney Neb. State here Saturday.

The Razorbacks won the opener 5-0 as Freddy Howard, a 6-2 left-hander from Dallas, Tex., struck out ten and allowed only six hits.

The visitors won the nightcap 4-0.

Foster Wants to Be the Heavy Champ

MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) — Bob Foster, the light heavyweight boxing king who retained his crown Saturday night by stopping out-prone Roger Rouse in three rounds in this western Montana community, says he wants to be the next heavyweight champion. And, he wants the title this summer.

Foster demolished Rouse with a series of swift right-hand jabs that sent the 34-year-old smelter worker to the canvass twice in the opening round, once in the second and again in the third and final round. Rouse had been ranked No. 7 by the World Boxing Association after his 10-round decision over Larry Buck in Seattle last December.

Foster told newsmen gathered in his dressing room following Saturday's fight that he hasn't signed to fight heavyweight champion Joe Frazier, but that could come sometime in the near future.

The Frazier-Foster battle may be further off than the June date Foster's handlers had in mind because of a broken ankle the champion suffered last week during his Las Vegas nightclub act.

Foster claimed his 44th victory and his 39th knockout by stopping Rouse.

A dejected Rouse said his boxing future is undecided. His owner-manager, Pete Jovanovich, said Rouse will stay away

Baseball to Shift to Courtroom

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
Baseball attention shifted from the courtroom to the ball field today as the problem-plagued sport began its second century with traditional openers at Washington and Cincinnati while the champion New York Mets and transplanted Milwaukee Brewers waited to be trumpeted onstage.

The American League began play at Washington with the Detroit Tigers, sans the suspended Denny McLain, sending left-hander Mickey Lolich against the Senators' Dick Boshamer after young David Eisenhower threw out the first ball as a stand-in for President Nixon.

At Cincinnati, meanwhile, the usual holiday atmosphere prevailed as the National League got underway with the Montreal Expos sending Joe Sparrano to pitch against Jim Merritt of the Reds in the last opening day at ancient Crosley Field.

Monday's opening program, however, was overshadowed by the potential in Tuesday's 11 game schedule in which the Mets will begin defense of their world championship at Pittsburgh and the Brewers will provide Milwaukee with a home team to root for against the California Angels.

Besides the California-Milwaukee opener, Tuesday's American League schedule shows Detroit at Washington, Oakland at Kansas City, Minnesota at Chicago, Baltimore at Cleveland and Boston at New York.

In the National League, Chicago is at Pittsburgh, Cincinnati at Los Angeles, Atlanta at San Diego and Houston at San Francisco in addition to the New York-Pittsburgh curtain raiser. The St. Louis Cardinals move into action for the first time Wednesday in a game at Montreal.

Emphasis on the 1970 season so far has rested largely on off-the-field problems, the most important among them Curt Flood's suit testing the reserve system, the Denny McLain investigation that led to his suspension until July 1 and the shift of the Seattle franchise to Milwaukee.

The latter, white accomplished, has left baseball facing an $82 million antitrust suit by the State of Washington and the threat of action in the U.S. Senate to remove baseball's immunity from antitrust laws. That, however, will be forgotten for a day at least.

The transplanted Brewers received an airport welcome Sunday night when they arrived in Milwaukee from their Tempe, Ariz., training base and are expected to be greeted Tuesday afternoon by a crowd of 30,000 at County Stadium.

Milwaukee has not had a home team to root for since the Braves moved south to Atlanta following the 1965 season, although the Chicago White Sox have given the city a peek at American League baseball by playing some of their home

Barber, Sikes Win Money in Tourney

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Miller Barber of Texarkana, Tex., finished second in the $180,000 Greater Greensboro Open golf tournament here Sunday with a four-day total of 273.

Barber shot a 68 Sunday to net him $20,500 in winnings.

R. H. Sikes of Springdale, Ark., finished third after firing a 69 Sunday for a total of 274 and winnings of $12,800.

Gary Player won the $36,000 top prize with a total of 271.

Two Porker Games for Television

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — American Broadcasting officials said Saturday that the Arkansas Razorbacks will play two televised games this year in the NCAA football television series.

On Sept. 12 the Razorbacks will play Stanford and Dec. 5 they will play Texas.

Both games will be nationally televised, officials said.

Ashes Picks Up Governor's Cup at San Juan

SAN JUAN (AP) — Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., took home the Governor's Cup and a check for $2,200 today after winning the singles crown in the 18th annual Caribe Hilton International Tennis Tournament Sunday.

Ashe, second seeded in the tournament behind Stan Smith, beat Cliff Richey of San Angelo, Tex., 6-4, 6-3, 1-6, 6-3 in a dull match before a capacity crowd of over a thousand tennis enthusiasts.

The doubles crown went to Australians Bob Carmichael and Therry Addison, who defeated Ashe and Charlie Pasarell of Puerto Rico 3-6, 8-6, 6-3. The winners received $600 each for their effort.

Mary Ann Eisel Curtis of St. Louis and Patti Hogan of La Jolla, Calif., won the women's doubles with a three-set victory over Peaches Bartkowicz, of Nantramck, Mich., and Stephanie Johnson of Hollywood Fla., 6-3, 5-7, 6-0.

U.S. Winner Over Europe in Diving

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP)—The United States, drawing heavily in the women's competition, beat Europe 25-19 Sunday to take the first of their new twice-a-year diving series.

The United States finished 1-2 in both of the women's events as European divers took the men's competition.

Debbie Lipman of Long Beach, Calif., took the 10-meter women's platform title with 325.15 points and the runnerup spot went to Lanie Loken of Ann Arbor, Mich., Cynthia Potter of Houston, Tex., scored 394.80 to win the three-meter springboard event, with Jerrie Adair of Cyprus, Calif., in second.

Italy's Klaus DiBlasi, who won the men's 10-meter platform event, scored 474.75 to 470.10 for Dick Rydzye of Ann Arbor.

Perhaps the most bizarre windups were those staged by the Rangers and Canadiens. They resulted in Montreal missing the playoffs for the first time in 22 years and sent the NHL into post-season action without a Canadian team for the first time in history. Toronto finished last in the East.

After both New York and Montreal lost Saturday, the Rangers came into Sunday's game trailing Montreal by two points in the standings and five

Baltimore Colts to Name Coach

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Colts name a head football coach today, more than six weeks after Don Shula quit to join the Miami Dolphins.

General Manager Don Klosterman scheduled a news conference for noon, EST, to introduce the new field boss of the National Football League team.

tailies in the goals scored column. That meant to make the playoffs, New York not only had to win and hope Montreal lost to Chicago to square the points and victories totals, but had to score at least five more goals against Detroit than the Canadiens did against the Black Hawks.

Detroit goalie Roger Crozier was blitzed with a record 65 shots as Dave Balon scored three goals and Ron Stewart, Rod Gilbert and Jack Legers added two each. Defenseman Arnie Brown assisted on four of the goals.

When the score ballooned to 9-3, Francis lifted goalie Ed Giacomin for an extra attacker, trying to increase his club's goals scored and make Montreal's task tougher. But he had to settle for nine, increasing the club total to 246 for the season, four more than the Canadiens had.

Montreal got two of the goals back, closing the gap to two but Chicago busted their game open on a hat trick by Pit Martin and the desperate Canadiens, needing three more goals to catch the Rangers, lifted their goalie for an extra skater. That set up five empty net goals for the Black Hawks, a bizarre scene.

Small Guard Is Star in Aloha Classic

HONOLULU (AP) — Nate Archibald, a 5-foot-11 guard from the University of Texas, El Paso, a last-minute addition to the South roster, proved the big star of the second annual Aloha Classic.

Archibald ran up a record three-game total of 122 points and led his team to three consecutive victories and the tournament championship.

Archibald, who set a single game record of 51 points in South's 116-108 victory over the West, was almost as devastating in Saturday's finale against the East scoring 48 points in his team's runaway 127-100 triumph.

Prior to the Aloha games, Archibald's career high was 35 points in the East-West All-Star game two weeks ago.

Archibald was added to the South squad as a replacement for North Carolina's Charlie Scott who withdrew three days before the tournament.

The UTEP star was named the Classic's outstanding player and made the all-tournament squad along with Columbia's Jim McMillan, the pace-setter for the East; Dave Covens, Florida State, who led the tournament in rebounds with 54 and established a single-game record of 20 against the West; Joe Hamilton, a 5-10 guard from North Texas State who tied McMillan for second in scoring, and Seaborn Hill of Arizona State who played for the West.

HE CALLS THE FRENCH DEADBEAT DEBTORS

By TOM TIEDE

PARIS—(N.E.A.)—Feisty New York State Congressman Lester Wolff has practically made a career out of calling the people of France deadbeats.

And technically he's correct.

Frenchmen have been welching on a debt to America for more than half a century. And not just a few francs, either, but a whole mountain of dollars.

The debt dates back to World War I, when the United States bolstered France's fighting capabilities with a loan of $4,089,689,588 (and 18 cents). At first there was no quarrel about the loan. After the shooting stopped, the grateful French began regular repayments—altogether $226,039,588 (and 18 cents).

But then, four decades ago, the payments stopped. For good.

And now, with 51 years of accumulated interest, the U. S. Treasury Department says Frenchmen owe Americans exactly $7,110,621,889 (and 32 cents).

Thus, Congressman Wolff calls the French deadbeats. A couple of weeks ago he even circulated a petition which demanded that France fork over its liabilities. One hundred of Wolff's colleagues gleefully signed it.

But namecalling and petitions aside, France has no intention of ever paying the debt. Furthermore, the United States has no hope of ever collecting it.

Says Robert Morris of the U.S. embassy here:

"I've been in Paris for two years, and the subject of debt repayment has never come up. Not to my knowledge, anyway. We don't raise it with the French, and they don't raise it with us. It's something that's just never discussed."

Instead of discussion, the position of both nations concerning the debt is one of benign neglect. France has totally removed the item from its budgetary records. And the United States has drawn up a carefully worded, three-page memorandum which explains: "From the practical viewpoint, there does not seem to be any possibility of reaching an agreement on repayment."

Why? Even after all these

Democrats to Elect National Delegates

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A committee of the Arkansas Democratic Party has endorsed a proposal for a party primary to elect delegates to the Democratic National Convention. The committee has also suggested a presidential preferential primary in Arkansas.

The committee was formed to make recommendations to bring the Arkansas Democratic Party in compliance with a mandate of the 1968 Democratic National Convention for changes in the procedures for selecting delegates to the National Convention. The committee met for the first time Saturday.

Richard S. Arnold of Texarkana, chairman of the committee, said that if Arkansas does not comply with the mandate, the credentials of its delegates could be challenged at the 1972 convention.

The nearest that grass has come to producing a tree is bamboo.

HOPE (ARK) STAR, Printed by Offset years, why "no possibility?"

The reasons are complex, encompassing decisions made long ago. And over the decades the decisions have been muddled further by political priorities.

But, stated briefly and simply, the French claim that the United States forfeited all rights to debt repayment in 1931. That's when President Herbert Hoover approved a moratorium on German reparations to allied nations. The world-wide depression was on, Germany's economy was badly listing, and Hoover felt the moratorium was necessary to keep the German government viable.

It was a noble move, the French say, but unwise.

For France believes its debt to the U.S. was hinged with Germany's debt to the allies. It said at the time that it would repay the U.S. only with German reparations money. Therefore, no reparations, no debt repayments.

Legally, U.S. officials do not recognize this French quibbling. "It's just built," says a Treasury Department official. "The German reparations payments had absolutely nothing to do with France's original debt to us."

Politically, however, the United States sees the French point clearly. Germany's war reparations debt was fixed at a gigantic $25 billion. There is no conceivable way to enforce its payment after five full decades.

So, a standoff. And the debt, in fact, is dead.

A taxi driver crossing over the Seine, in 111 cigarette hanging from his lips, curses a bus to the front and says: "We owe you that much, monsieur. I can tell you, my friend, do not hold your breath until we pay. We are broke, monsieur. All France is broke. If I had the money I would move to Rome. How much did you say we owe you? That much, Yi!"

There it is then, $7,220,621,889 (and 32 cents). Growing by some $200 million a year. Enough money, if paid, to wipe out the U.S. balance of trade deficits, or to finance the entire U. S. space program for two years.

Monday, April 8, 1970

But don't blame only the French. Americans did a lot of lending to a lot of people during World War I. In fact, a total of 20 nations still owe the United States $22,016,776,365 (and 22 cents).

As Congressman Wolff might say, the whole world is full of deadbeats.

Information About Social Security

By KEN HARGIS

If you have any questions regarding social security, I invite your letters. Just send them to Social Security Administration, P.O. Box 1319, Texarkana, Texas 75501.

Question: This month I used my Medicare coverage for the first time when I was taken to the hospital. The hospital charged me $52.00 when I was admitted. According to some literature I have, they were supposed to charge $44.00. Which is correct?

Answer: Beginning 1-1-70 the deductible for hospital insurance was increased from $44 to $52. Since your benefit period began in 1970, the hospital was correct in charging $52 as the deductible.

Question: I plan to retire in a few months and apply for social security retirement insurance. What records should I bring with me when I file my claim?

Answer: Bring your social security number, and your birth or baptismal certificate, if recorded before age five. If there is no such record, bring other papers that show proof of age. Also, bring your 1969 E-2 Form or income tax return, if you furnish complete information when you make your application, your first check will reach you sooner.

Question: My son is 17 and I am 43. We have been receiving social security payments since my husband's death. Will our social security payments stop when he reaches 18? He will continue living with me while he attends college.

Answer: The payments for your son can continue until he reaches age 22 if he continues in school on a full time basis and does not get married. Your own checks will stop when your son becomes 18. You may receive payments again beginning at age 60, or if you are severely disabled, at age 50. Ask your social security office about the

University Planning Unit Formed

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Planning for future units of the University of Arkansas in Central Arkansas will be made by a university-appointed committee.

Storm Whaley, UA vice president and chairman of the committee, said Saturday that April 23 had been set as a tentative date for the committee's first meeting.

Whaley was chairman of a similar committee in 1967. That committee recommended the merger of UA and Little Rock University.

The new committee consists of representatives from UALR and other UA units in Little Rock.

Dr. David Mullins, UA president, said he wanted the committee to recommend which Little Rock units might be appropriately located on the JALR campus and also explore the need for any additional land for that campus.

papers necessary to continue the boy's checks.

Question: My 22 year old son was severely injured, and his doctors say he will not be able to work for at least a year. How much work does he need to qualify for disability payments?

Answer: He needs social security credit for at least half of the calendar quarters during the three year period just before he became disabled. This is enough work to insure anyone who becomes disabled before the age of 24.

Division on Meat, Wheat Imports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nixon administration officials are divided over whether meat import regulations should be relaxed to provide a break for consumers, particularly low income families.

On one side is the Agriculture Department, which argues that present rising prices are an indication of the cost of raising and marketing livestock. Import restrictions are needed to sustain domestic farm production, the department says.

Arguing on behalf of opening the way for more cheap imported meat to deflate current prices are the Council of Economic Advisers and presidential consumer adviser Virginia Knauer.

The Agriculture Department says the price increases should slacken soon.

But economists outside the department, mindful of the sharp meat price increases which surprised USDA analysts last year, aren't so sure.

Agriculture forecast a 2 to 2.4 per cent increase in all retail food prices last year. But the whopping 10 per cent increase in meat prices carried the real annual increase to 5.2 per cent.

For this year, the USDA says all food prices will increase 3.5 to 4 per cent, with the meat price spiral stalling by late summer or early fall.

Meanwhile, the Agriculture Department continues to counsel against any action to ease imports of foreign meat, which is used almost exclusively in cheap manufactured products like hamburger.

The economic advisers and Mrs. Knauer's office are arguing that increasing imports would have a significant impact only on prices of low-cost meats and offer relief primarily to the low-income families that spend a proportionately larger share of their salaries on food.

"It's either hamburger, or chicken or something like that," said one official in favor of eased import restrictions. "For them it's not either hamburger or steak or chops." Low meat prices would also be helpful in combatting inflation, said another.

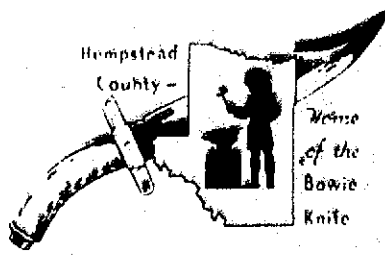

Agriculture, however, challenges whether retail price dips would come only in the low-cost meat area.

Foreign producers have plenty of meat available for U.S. markets.

Presently, imports account for 5 per cent of the U.S. meat supply.

Nomination of Carswell Passes a Crucial Test

Confirmation Vote Is Due Wednesday

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Judge G. Harrold Carswell's nomination to the Supreme Court won its first crucial test today as the Senate rejected a motion to return the nomination to the Judiciary Committee.

The vote was 52 to 44. The recommitment motion by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., a leader of the opposition, was designed to kill the nomination of the 50-year-old Tallahassee, Fla., jurist.

The Senate now will vote Wednesday on confirmation of Carswell, the second Southerner nominated by President Nixon for the Supreme Court vacancy created nearly a year ago by the resignation of Justice Abe Fortas.

Nixon's first choice, Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., of Greenville, S.C., was rejected by the Senate last November by a 55-45 vote.

Senate leaders of both parties said they expected defeat of Bayh's recommitment motion to be followed by confirmation of Carswell, although perhaps by a narrower margin.

Some senators who voted against recommitment said they would vote against Carswell's confirmation. They contended that returning it to committee would just be ducking the issue.

On the other hand, some senators who announced they favored returning the nomination to committee for further hearings said they would disclose later how they would vote on confirmation if the recommitment motion failed.

One of those who predicted confirmation was Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here is the 52-44 vote by which the Senate refused Monday to send the Supreme Court nomination of G. Harrold Carswell back to its Judiciary Committee:

Truckers Threaten to Strike; No Progress in Airline Situation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The administration's efforts to end the air controllers' walkout showed slow progress today but its proposal to finance the postal workers pay hike appeared doomed. Wildcat strikes threatened a national trucking contract.

The Federal Aviation Administration reported that 82 percent of the controllers were back on the job but the "sick-out" continued to cripple operations in cities including New York, Chicago, Kansas City and San Francisco.

Generally favorable weather Sunday helped ease the movement of end of vacation air traffic although airlines remained on curtailed schedules ordered by the FAA.

Scattered wildcat walkouts by truck drivers continued today in cities including Los Angeles, Milwaukee, St. Louis, Cleveland, St. Paul, Minn., and Richmond, Ohio.

In Chicago businesses stockpiled supplies against a possible strike by the city's 50,000 truck drivers. In 1967 when Chicago truckers rejected a national pact they walked out and took drivers in other cities with them.

The national agreement reached last week between the

Kirk Takes Over School, Defies Court

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — Gov. Claude Kirk, directing pupils and teachers to ignore desegregation transfer approved by the U.S. Supreme Court, today personally assumed "custodial supervision" of the Manatee County public school system.

Kirk called his action "in the best interest of the children." In an executive order Sunday, Kirk acted 14 hours before the desegregation plan was implemented in Manatee, a coastal county on the Gulf of Mexico 50 miles south of Tampa.

On the scene before classes opened, Kirk huddled briefly behind closed doors with Lt. Gov. Ray Osborne and two assistant superintendents, Col. Philip Doyle and Dr. William Bashaw.

Then addressing some 150 administrative staff members, Kirk said: "We have exercised every legal opportunity possible with the Manatee County School Board. We will now exercise our rights as governor."

"Our job is to educate children," he added. "The federal judges who ordered desegregation were not concerned with this."

"There will be no changes," Kirk said. "I see no problems. I see a great staff."

"We have come this way reluctantly. We have not been given our day in court. We imagine we will be given our day in court now."

Doyle said results of Kirk's action wouldn't be known until midmorning.

Welfare Aid Limit Upheld by Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court, on a 5-3 vote, upheld today the power of states to set a maximum limit on the amount of welfare assistance that goes to one family.

Justice Potter Stewart, giving the decision in a Maryland case, said: "The Constitution does not empower this court to second-guess state officials charged with the difficult responsibility of allocating limited public welfare funds among the myriad of potential recipients."

The ruling is a setback for advocates of the poor, who have been uniformly victorious in the high court in recent years.

Justices William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr., Thurgood Marshall, the court's liberal core, dissented from the majority decision.

Stewart said federal Social Security law gives each state great latitude in dispensing its available funds.

"So long as some aid is provided to all eligible families and all eligible children, the statute itself is not violated," he said.

Woman Suffers Burns in House Fire

The home of Pete Muldrow at 1400 Graham Street caught fire and burned to the ground about 1:50 a.m. Monday. His wife suffered third degree burns and was taken to a local hospital for treatment.

Firemen said the blaze caught from a wood heater and by the time trucks arrived the frame dwelling was completely engulfed. It was a total loss.

At 8:55 a.m. Monday firemen were called to 1000 Hickory St. where a pan of bacon had caught fire but the blaze had been put out by the time firemen arrived. There was no damage.

Dr. Sam Shepard, Once Convicted, Acquitted of Wife Slaying, Dies

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Sam Shepard, a former osteopath convicted in a controversial trial of the slaying of his first wife and then acquitted after nearly 10 years in prison, died at his home today.

F. Lee Bailey, Shepard's lawyer during his fight for freedom, said Shepard told him in confidence earlier this year that he had cancer.

He had been ill three days with what he said was the flu. Cause of death was not immediately announced. An autopsy was scheduled.

Colleen Shepard, third wife of the neurosurgeon turned wrestler, said Shepard would not allow anyone to call a physician to check him.

Bailey said in Boston, "Sam told me three months ago in confidence that he had cancer and was taking pills for it. And he had no desire to have one of those protracted illnesses. He figured to just let it run its course."

"Apparently it was more than the flu. But we didn't know this," Mrs. Shepard said. She said no doctor had seen Shepard during the illness. "He wouldn't let us call anyone," she said. "He got sick two days. . . . no really three days ago. We have no idea what caused the death."

Dr. Robert A. Evans, Franklin County Coroner, said Shepard had been treating himself for flu. He would not comment on the cause of death, Shepard, 45, had been living at the residence of his father-in-law, B.L. Strickland since last summer.

Shepard started about a year ago wrestling for charitable events and Strickland was his manager and wrestling partner. He married Strickland's daughter, Colleen, 20, on Oct. 21 in Mexico.

Shepard first made national news on July 4, 1954 when his pregnant first wife, Marilyn, was found brutally beaten to death in their plush Bay Village, Ohio, home just west of Cleveland.

Shepard was convicted of second-degree murder in a widely publicized and controversial

German Envoy Killed in Guatemala

By ELOY AGUILAR
Associated Press Writer
GUATEMALA (AP) — Guatemalan security forces stepped up their hunt for members of the leftist Rebel Armed Forces during the night after the body of kidnapped West German Ambassador Karl Von Spreit was found in a roofless mud hut near Guatemala City. He had been shot once in the head.

Police patrols were seen on almost every other block of the capital. Some homes were searched. But there was no immediate report of any arrests.

Count Von Spreit was kidnapped Tuesday and killed Sunday after the Guatemalan government refused the demands of the Rebel Armed Forces, or FAR, for the release of 22 jailed FAR members and $700,000 in ransom money. The terrorists warned several times that they would kill the 63-year-old diplomat if their demands were not met.

West German Chancellor Willy Brandt scored the Guatemalan government, saying it had "shown itself unable to give accredited diplomatic representatives necessary security."

In a statement issued in El Paso, Tex., during his tour of the United States, he said cooperation between countries "will be seriously threatened if it

Purcell to Seek the Nomination

By ROBERT SHAW
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell, saying he had served his political apprenticeship, today made the anticipated announcement that he would seek promotion this year to the governor's office.

Purcell, a Democrat, told a news conference in his office that his race would be a positive "campaign of the people," declaring that he would not run a negative campaign, but added that he planned to make clear to the people the record of Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller if Rockefeller seeks a third term.

The attorney general said that when the voters know about Rockefeller's record they will not re-elect the Republican governor.

Purcell said he would not run a pro-tax or anti-tax campaign, but said that as governor he would insist on economy in government, a complete review of the tax structure and that all taxes are collected.

"Before one more tax bill is introduced, we need to come back and show the people that the tax dollar has been stretched," Purcell said, adding that "an unknown amount" of tax money had not been collected because of bad management.

Once the state's tax program is reviewed, the state can then decide what it needs, Purcell said.

"The people of this state will give you what you want when you tell them the facts," Purcell said.

He said the people did not get the facts this year and that was the reason Rockefeller's $35 million tax program was defeated in last month's special legislative session.

The attorney general said that law and order and the administration of justice would be an issue in the campaign. "People are concerned and rightfully so," he said.

Purcell's entrance into the Democratic primary this year had been expected. He said his pattern has been to work his way up from the bottom. He pointed out that he had served two terms as city attorney in his home town in Benton and two terms as municipal judge before his election in 1966 to the first of two terms in the attorney general's office.

"Politically, I have served by apprenticeship," Purcell said. "My training, my education and my experience qualify me to discharge the duties and responsibilities of the highest office in the Executive Branch of our state government."

He said he would be a "working governor" who will bring responsibility, efficiency and effectiveness to the office. "In this respect, I stand and run on my record," he said.

Four California Patrol Officers Shot to Death

AP News Digest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Supporters of Judge G. Harrold Carswell's nomination to the Supreme Court apparently have beaten an attempt to return the nomination to committee and burial. Polls before today's vote showed 49 senators opposing the recommitment motion, 39 for the motion and ten undecided. A vote on the nomination itself, set for Wednesday, continues to have its outcome in doubt.

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Americans have had their day in Washington," blared a loud speaker as crowds gathered to support a military victory in Vietnam and prayer and Bible reading in schools, and to oppose sex education, legalized abortion, "Godless Communism," and an end to desegregation. Estimates of the crowd's size ranged from 10,000 to 50,000.

One Accused Killer Ends His Own Life

By MIKE RUBIN
Associated Press Writer
SAUGUS, Calif. (AP) — One of two men accused of killing four highway patrolmen in a gun battle committed suicide today, authorities reported. His body was found by a force of officers in gas masks and wearing flack jackets who stormed a house where he had been besieged for six hours.

Authorities first had said he was captured alive.

The action in mountain country 35 miles north of Los Angeles began when officers stopped a car just before midnight after reports occupants were brandishing guns at motorists on a nearby, heavily traveled freeway.

After the shooting one gunman fled on foot into a canyon and was captured after firing at a camper, who shot back.

The other took refuge in the house and for five hours held a man hostage at gunpoint before freeing him about 9 a.m. The gunman said at one point he was trying to decide whether to kill himself, officers said.

The hostage, Steve Hoag, walked out unarmed and said the gunman, Jack Wright Twining, 35, had a quantity of weapons but not much ammunition. Twining fired sporadically at the scores of officers surrounding Hoag's home.

Officers said one suspect was believed severely wounded in the original shootout. With two patrolmen dead and one mortally wounded, the last officer held off the two gunmen alone for five minutes until he was hit by a shot in the face, a witness said.

The men fled in their red, late-model sedan as 40 customers in a nearby coffee house huddled on the floor. A car of that description was found about 10 minutes later on a dead-end street about a block from the shooting scene.

Three helicopters and more than 100 law enforcement officers on foot and in four-wheel-drive vehicles scoured the rugged, brush-covered hill and canyon area in search of the assailants.

A highway patrol spokesman said the men apparently were armed with a shotgun and a .44-caliber magnum pistol and fled with the four officers' service revolvers.

"We're not sure if the officers even got off a shot," the spokesman said. However, one of the mortally wounded officers had a bullet in the back of his head.

Apollo Shot Has Confidence of Specialists

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Specialists worked on a fuel pressure problem in the moon landing craft today, confident they can solve it without delaying Saturday's launching of Apollo 13, man's third lunar landing mission.

Space agency officials hoped to make a decision by midmorning whether to replace the bothersome system, which pressurizes the fuel tanks for the engine of the lunar lander. They were concerned because the pressures were higher than normal.

If the system has to be replaced, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration felt certain the job could be done in time to meet the scheduled launch time of 2:13 p.m. EST Saturday.

Launch Director Walter Kapryan ordered the countdown to begin on schedule at 10 p.m. Sunday after experts studied the pressurization problem throughout the day.

Kapryan reported the pressure had started to stabilize and that specialists had requested an additional 12 hours to study the problem.

The three astronauts who are to fly the mission—James A. Lovell Jr., Thomas K. Mattingly II, and Fred W. Haise Jr.—watched developments from their crew quarters five miles from the launch pad.

Their schedule today called for a physical examination and several hours in a spaceship simulator, practicing launch maneuvers and possible abort procedures in case of rocket trouble.

Lovell and Haise are to attempt a risky landing in the moon's Fra Mauro highlands, where they hope to find ancient rocks dating back to the creation of the moon. They also plan to deploy a nuclear-powered science station and dig up soil from 10 feet beneath the surface.

Victory March Is Termed Successful

WASHINGTON (AP) — Whatever other purpose it may have served, the March for Victory gave thousands of middle-aged and conservatively dressed Americans a chance to be heard.

"This is our day," said The Rev. Carl McIntire, the fundamentalist preacher and chief organizer of the event, who led the March Saturday down Pennsylvania Avenue to the Washington Monument. There, a loud speaker blared "at last, Americans have had their day in Washington."

Crowd estimates varied. Washington Police Chief Jerry V. Wilson set the number at 10,000 to 15,000. Federal Park Police estimated about 40,000, while McIntire said 50,000 persons marched. About 250,000 persons were estimated to have walked the same route in the November Moratorium Day protest against the Vietnam war.

Unlike last fall's youthful demonstrators with their long hair and unorthodox clothes, the weekend crowd was mostly over 30, had above-the-ear hair cuts, and wore their Sunday-best outfits. Some held Bibles, American and Confederate flags. They sang hymns, "America," "Dixie" and "God Bless America."

The event was billed by McIntire as a demonstration for military victory in Vietnam—an answer to last fall's antiwar marches.

However, a number of conservative themes shared the spotlight, with speakers and banners calling for prayer and Bible reading in school, an end to desegregation, sex education, legalized abortion and "Godless Communism."

To some it was a religious revival as they inquired about the souls of those they met in the throng. The devout who encountered unbelievers proclaimed, "you got to hit 'em with the word." The radio evangelist had declared before the march that it was a challenge to President Nixon's program of gradual withdrawal from Vietnam as well as the get-out-now demands of the peace demonstrators.

"It constitutes an uprising and breakthrough from the so-called silent majority to tell the President that the silent majority is not really with him," McIntire said.

At the rally, speaker after speaker called for military triumph in Vietnam and a "holy war against Communism."

"It is time for our nation to take off its mantle of sackcloth and assume the leadership the world expects of us," said Georgia's Gov. Lester Maddox.

Rep. John R. Larick, D-La., told the cheering mass military leaders claim they can win the war in six to eight weeks "if the hands of the fighting men were untied."

Charges School Boards Are Unconcerned

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The executive director of the Arkansas Council on Human Relations, Saturday charged "an attitude of gross unconcern and neglect" by many county election officials in last month's school board elections.

Elijah Coleman, in a statement for the council's Voter Education Project, said that some counties did not provide training for election officials and that in some instances election officials violated election laws "out of ignorance."

He also charged that some districts did not permit Negro election officials, but he said the Voter Education Project did not plan any litigation in relation to the school elections.

Poll Reveals Carswell Has the Votes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here on the basis of an Associated Press poll is the status of a Senate motion by Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., to recommit the Supreme Court nomination of G. Harrold Carswell to the Judiciary Committee for further consideration.

For recommitment: 39. Against recommitment: 49. Uncommitted: 10.

It takes a majority of those attending to send the nomination back to committee. With two senators definitely unable to attend, but all others on the floor, a vote of 50 would be necessary to recommit. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew as presiding officer would cast any tie-breaking vote against the motion.

King Called a Moses of 20th Century

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King was described as a "20th Century Moses" by speakers at a service Saturday on the Capitol steps in memory of the slain civil rights leader.

More than 100 persons attended the 30-minute memorial service which followed a quiet, incident-free march to the capitol.

Speakers said that while King had a dream of justice and love, they said the hopes of the civil rights leader, who was shot down in Memphis in 1968, had not been fulfilled.

The Rev. Daniel Bowman said during the memorial service that King was the Moses of his day and had gone "a step or two further" than the Biblical Moses by not only leading a group of people but also a nation, "yea and even a world."

"Only one man like Martin Luther King has graced our generation," the Rev. Mr. Bowman said.

Court Refuses Plan to Speed Assignments

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court today refused to apply the McNabb-Mallory doctrine on speedy arraignments to cases in Arkansas.

The doctrine set out by the U.S. Supreme Court applies only to cases involving federal detention, the state Supreme Court said.

The ruling came in an appeal by Lonnie B. Mitchell, who is on death row after being convicted of rape in Union County in March 1959.

The state Supreme Court also rejected Mitchell's contention that his confession to the crime was not given voluntarily.

Mitchell was convicted in the assault of a white woman and over a period of years there have been numerous hearings in federal and state courts on a variety of aspects of the case.

The McNabb-Mallory doctrine requires that a person arrested as a suspect in a crime be given an arraignment without any unreasonable delay.

In one case, the U.S. Supreme Court held that a delay of seven hours was unnecessary and unreasonable, but the court pointed out in that ruling that arresting officers are not expected to give "mechanical or automatic obedience."

"Circumstances may justify a brief delay between arrest and arraignment, as for instance where the story volunteered by the accused is susceptible of quick verification through third parties," the U.S. Supreme Court said. "But the delay must not be of a nature to give opportunity for the extraction of a confession."

Mitchell was arrested late on the evening of March 9, 1959, or early on the morning of March 10, 1959, and was arraigned on a robbery charge March 11.

Mitchell's arraignment on the charge of rape did not take place until March 16.

"While it is true that the rape confession occurred after the robbery arraignment, it is inconceivable that the arraignment for robbery would satisfy the prompt arraignment requirement," Mitchell's attorney contended.

On the issue of confession, the

U.S. Consul Suffers a Small Wound

PORTO ALEGRE, Brazil (AP) — The U.S. consul in Porto Alegre was recovering today from a slight wound suffered in thwarting a kidnapping attempt. He used his car to run down one of his would-be kidnapers, and they let loose a hail of bullets as he escaped.

Supreme Court noted that the confession was tape recorded and that the recording showed no breaks except when a new spool had to be placed on the recorder.

Arkansas law provides that when an arrest is made without a warrant "the defendant must forthwith be carried before the most convenient magistrate of the county in which the arrest is made."

The state Supreme Court said in the Mitchell case that this law was in effect at the time of Mitchell's arrest. The court stood by its position that the law is directory and not mandatory on law enforcement officials. This means that failure to promptly arraign the accused person will not make the detention illegal.

Curtis C. Cutler, a 41-year-old Korean War veteran, became the first diplomat in Latin America to personally defy a kidnapping attempt since the wave of political abductions started last September. There have been eight previous kidnappings or attempted kidnappings in Latin American countries.

Cutler was driving home late Saturday night with his wife, Catherine, and a former State Department official, Hovey Clark, when a gang in a car intercepted them. Several men wearing dark glasses and carrying machine guns jumped out and headed toward Cutler's station wagon.

The consul stepped on the gas and pulled around the car blocking his path, hitting one of the men and dragging him on the bumper for several yards. The other kidnapers opened fire, wounding the consul slightly in the back, but he was able to drive to his home a few blocks away.

Police said the assailants, members of the leftist Armed Revolutionary Vanguard, picked up their injured comrade and escaped.

Opening lead—♦ 7

Oswald: "Dorothy Rice Sims (the wife of Hal Sims) invented the term 'fresh-water shark' to describe the near expert. The fresh-water shark was a killer in still water but had no chance when he ventured into the deep sea where the real sharks lurked."

Jim: "Bob Hamman, one of my team mates on the American International team, took good care of fresh-water shark East in today's two-spade contract."

Oswald: "Bob's two-spade opening was one of those weak two-bids to show some sort of suit and too little for a normal opening bid. West opened his singleton diamond. Bob won with dummy's ace, cashed the ace of trumps and led a small club to his king. West took his ace and put Bob back in dummy with the queen of clubs. Bob led dummy's deuce of hearts and East was a good enough player to put up the queen instead of the ace."

Jim: "East led the queen of diamonds. West ruffed and returned a low heart to his partner's ace. At this point, East suddenly realized that a diamond lead would give away the fact that West was out of trumps. Therefore, East led a club. Bob ruffed, thought awhile and saw what East was up to. Then he led a diamond to dummy, ruffed a heart to bring himself and East each down to three trumps. Then he led the 10 of spades and claimed the last two tricks."

Oswald: "A poor player in the East seat would have led the third diamond without any ado. Bob would have found out about the trump situation but would have LUNAR VISITOR? As the United States plans another visit to the moon, earth-bound "astronauts" probe other mysteries. Here, a member of the Air Force Aerospace Defense Command tests comfort and wearability of a space suit at Florida's Panama City beach. Made of a special heat-resisting fabric, each suit must be linked up to air-conditioning units and communications outlets since wearer virtually is isolated from his environment. Outfit is designed primarily for crews flying at altitudes over 50,000 feet.

By ROGER DOUGHTY

SON OF GARLIC—Rising up from a stack of mail, just to the left of our autographed photo of Frank Zappa, comes the unmistakable sense of garlic. Sure enough, Wild Garlic, the noted Pittsburgh rock outfit, strikes again. This time with a way to say I love you that Jani Gardner didn't think of. Writes The Garlic: "One way to say I love you is to say, 'You are a golden chalice in a world filled with paper cups,'" so The Garlic goes a copy of Jani's book, "365 More Ways to Say 'I Love You'." It leaves you breathless.

GROUP SCOOP—This being National Take a Lizard to Lunch Week, get hold of Jamul, an LP by a group by the same name on the Lizard label. Test played it on a couple of musical types and they thought Jamul sounded like a cross between Steppenwolf and Credence Clearwater, which is pretty nice company. Cuts we like best were "Sunrise over Jamul," "Movin' to the Country" and "Hold the Line," all written by Ron Armstrong, a member of the outfit. Worth looking for.

SOMETHING BIG—In the wind for Youth Beat readers and will tell you all about it next week. It's a special kind of contest where we will honor teens from all over the country who have taken the time to get involved. In what? Tell you about it next time around.

NEWS KAZOOS—Been getting all kinds of mail about the fate of Bronx Kazoos now that the Toronto Peace Festival has been shot down in flames, leaving 10 Irsey's windjammers with no place to toot. Word has it that Blue Kazoos, the British blowers who will be doing their thing in Australia the July 4 weekend, are trying to get Bronx Kazoos added to the bill there, with no success so far. Sound is catching on, though, with the 101 Kazoo Band being the latest to make the scene playing "Electric Jungle Music."

BOOK REPORT—Required reading for everybody headed for or now in college should be "Is the Library Burning?" Roger Rapoport and Laurence Kirshbaum (who are 23 and 25) put it together after a yearlong tour of college campuses.

HAVING A BALL—The beloved Frisbie lives on forever, of course, but it seems that hardly anybody is going anywhere without a Nerf ball these days. Gotta admit this one faked us out, but everybody's tossing them all over the landscape, so they must be for real. Even got one myself. Just as good indoors as out.

NEWS AND REVIEWS—What with Rolling Stone making it very large these days, Crawdaddy, one of the first rock gazettes (which went under awhile back), has come back from the grave to take a shot at the grave. Could make it big, if it's as well done as Rolling Stone, but that remains to be seen.

The Hempstead Child Development Center opened its doors to pupils for the first time Wednesday, April 1st.

Nine children are enrolled and additional applications are being processed. The Center's limit is 25 children, ages 3 to 6.

The children enjoyed their first day in school, which included pre-school educational training, supervised play, nap time and two snacks and a hot lunch.

The Hempstead Child Development Center is a licensed day care center, open from 7 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., five days a week. It is designed to assist families in which the parents work or receive training and whose income is not sufficient to pay regular day care rates.

It is sponsored by the Hope Junior Auxiliary and operated as a non-profit agency, utilizing local contributions through the Hempstead County United Fund and matching funds through the Department of Welfare. Fees vary according to income and family circumstances. Parents wishing to inquire about making application may call Mrs. King (777-4062) or the Center, phone 777-6412.

The Junior Auxiliary is very grateful to all those who have contributed time and materials in making this dream a reality. The Center hopes to acquire further equipment as funds allow, but a few additional items are needed now, such as: window shades, 2 clocks, toys, old sheets and covers, floor covering, tricycles, blocks, wagons, house-keeping equipment, mirrors, chest of drawers, towels, wash cloths, bookcases, books and records, balls, waste baskets, equipment for science table and rhythm band equipment.

Anyone wishing to donate items may call Mrs. Tom Hays, Jr., 777-3327.

Patriots to Make Foxboro Their Home

BOSTON (AP) — The nomadic Boston Patriots, who have occupied a handful of stadia in their 10 years of professional football in Boston, seem likely to make their home in Foxboro.

The 17,000-resident town, about 30 miles southwest of Boston, was the choice of the Patriots board of directors for a new 57,000-seat stadium.

All that is needed now to assure the Patriots of a permanent home is approval of Foxboro's 5,500 registered voters at a special town meeting April 13.

Foxboro Selectmen recently polled the town on the prospect of taking the Patriots under its wing, with the vote 2,900 to 400 in favor of the proposal.

Billy Sullivan, president of the Patriots, said the open stadium, which would adjoin the Bay State Raceway, would be financed by a group of private citizens, with the 20-25 acres of land being contributed by the harness racing track.

Sullivan said the Patriots also would contribute to the financing of the stadium, but did not say to what extent. Unofficial estimates say the stadium will cost $9 million.

Under the merger arrangements of the American and National Football Leagues, the Patriots, who played in 26,000-seat Boston College Alumni Stadium last year, needed plans for a minimum 50,000-seat stadium this year or be forced to leave the area.

If Foxboro voters do not approve the plan, Sullivan said the Patriots would reconsider plans submitted by Haverhill and Salem, N.H.

Small Cager Holds a Big Contract

SAN DIEGO (AP) — With a 6-foot-4 father and a mother who stands six-feet even, Calvin Murphy figured to be a behemoth.

He stopped growing at 5-10, however, but it didn't stop him from becoming one of college basketball's all-time greatest scorers. He's now got another distinction—shortest man in the National Basketball Association.

Calvin thought about three teams before signing a contract Saturday with the NBA's San Diego Rockets. Others given his attention were the Pittsburgh Pipers of the rival American Basketball Association and the Harlem Magicians' touring show.

The pact is estimated to be worth $300,000 spread over three years.

Murphy, despite his height disadvantage, became a prolific scorer for Niagara's Purple Eagles and three times was named an All-American. His scoring averages for three years at Niagara were 38.2, 32.4 and 29.4 for a 33.0 varsity average.

"I've never considered myself small. I think of myself as average for a man. It's only too bad I have to play against guys who aren't average," Calvin says.

The Rockets fully expect Murphy to score, just as he did at Niagara, and hope his defense won't be a problem. Defense was a problem for the Rockets this past season. They allowed 121 points per game—far away the worst defensive performance in the NBA.

But Murphy, although short, might not be ripped on defense since he is reputed to have very fast hands—he once won the New York state baton twirling title. He has also been called for goaltending and can stuff the ball in the hoop with both hands.
